

FIGURE 14.8

The United States has substantial areas of highly acidic precipitation. pH is explained in the text. (J. Carlin, "Environmental Externalities in Electric Power Markets: Acid Rain, Urban Ozone, and Climate Change," Environmental Protection Agency, 1995.)

