

Figure 7.1 The hydrologic cycle. Electricity is produced in the hydroelectric plant by the action of water against a turbine connected to a generator. In this way the stored potential energy of the water in the reservoir becomes electrical energy.